This premature aging is peculiar to no single nationality. It is noticeable alike along the English and French lines and among the prisoners from Germany, Austria and Russia. It is said to be perhaps a little more pronounced along the eastern fronts, where the vast amount of territory involved frequently makes neglect of the wounded inevitable. There men have lain for days without medical attention, and when finally admitted to hospitals have given their ages at fond of putting it, but it often happens within the space of a week or ten days. "The theory of subconscious worry was borne out strikingly a short time ago in the case of a surgeon in charge of a base hospital, miles back of the firing line, where there could have been no actual worry as to personal safety. The doctor could not recall any worries officially or personally, but all the time his sub-conscious mind must have been worrying about the folks at home or about matters to which he gave not the slightest conscious consideration.

"The gray hairs come quicker to the officers than to the "Tommies," which is again a corroboration of the sub-conscious theory. The strain of the fighting naturally is greater with the officer, although he may outwardly have the same joyous spirit of the man with the gun, who goes over the parapet with a delighted yell when the command is given to advance.

The Store That Is "Near By"

It is all very well, as Emerson said in his much quoted remark about mousetraps, to have the world "make a beaten path to your door.'

But it is far more practical, for the usefulness of a store, to have it situated at the centre of the homes of a great many people, so that they can come to the store easily.

In this lies exactly the great advantage of The Store Accommodating-

With the network of surface car lines that pass its doors-

The Subway, with its Private Station at Hoyt Street, leading directly into the Store-

The Fulton Street "L"- it is singularly easy of access from all parts of Brooklyn, and is the very portal of Long

And furthermore-

It is closely linked, by Subway Express, with Uptown Manhattan and Westchester County.

It is but 20 minutes, by Hudson Tubes, from Jersey

It is the nearest great store to Staten Island.

It is so very convenient for business men and women in Downtown New York-

Only 6 Minutes by Subway Express From Wall Street

that it is by far the easiest to run over to Abraham & Straus at the noon hour, to do one's shopping in a Metropolitan Store, which is out of the highprice, high-rental uptown shopping zone, and where the best qualities of merchandise can be ought at lower-than-Manhattan prices.

Many people now find it pleasant to combine their noontime shopping trip with luncheon in the restful, comfortable A. & S. Restaurant, with its delicious food, wellcooked and served, at most reasonable prices. And a man can enjoy his after luncheon smoke in the Grill Room.
